

The seekers to start, must learn from the past
To enter the darkness and return from their task
The path of Demeter, is to be their quest
For hope shall be found where her daughter was kept.

The Mysteries shall be known to only the worthy,
Athens the city from which they must journey
Procession by foot on the Sacred Way
By night to Eleusis before start of day

Encircled by stones, reciting the prayer,
Prayer of Demeter; of motherly care
Faced with a test of tales that are known,
Placing the sigils in the sacred stone
